TWO POLICE IN BOOZE NET SAYS MORSE

Commissioner Is Certain He Would Dismiss Men He Suspects of Bootlegging If Possessed of the Authority

While Organized Ring for Peddling Liquor Is Not Charged, One Officer Is Declared to Have Run Still

Facts concerning the alleged "boozing ring" in Oakland, which Commissioner F. P. Morse says he expects to have in his possession within forty-eight hours, may be presented by Morse to the grand jury, according to a statement made by that official today.

I am certain in my own mind that I have evidence which now warrants the dismissal of the two men from the department and expect to have conclusive evidence. The facts I expect to get within the next two days may make possible my going before the grand jury, and I will do so unless another way toward the same end will prove just as effective."

Morse made it plain that the investigation of the alleged police dealing in liquor has but started, and that it is to be continued until every clue is run down. The outstanding development of the probe, as it stands today, includes:

The finding of a still in East Oakland and the start of an inquiry to determine if the owner said to be a patrolman, has sold any of the liquor there manufactured.

A statement by Commissioner Morse that he cannot tell how many men will be included in the investigation and that there are indications that more than the two he has mentioned will be forced to make explanations.

Official by A. Pellegrini that his soft drink parlor on Fifty-fourth avenue has been a supply place for patrolmen or others and that intoxicating liquors are sold there.

MORSE READY TO DISMISS TWO MEN

"If I had the authority," said Morse, "I would dismiss two men from the department and they would not have the right of appeal. I believe that they are not a credit to the department and that the department should be cleared of them. As it is I have at the moment no conclusive evidence. I would have to have before I can face an unfriendly civil service board."

"Could you not take your evidence to the grand jury?" Morse was asked.

"With the evidence I expect to get within the next forty-eight hours," Morse replied, "this course may be made possible. I think, however, that the same results can be obtained in other ways."

The commissioner added that he was thoroughly satisfied that the men in question were liabilities to the department and that he hoped to tie the guilt so definitely that dismissal and court action would follow.

INVESTIGATION GOES TO FEDERAL AGENTS

The investigation today is believed to have gone beyond Morse and into the jurisdiction of the Federal agents, with whom he is working. The admission is made that any policeman connected with the case will be turned over to Federal as well as local prosecution and the presence of several Federal agents at the City hall today bears out the assumption that aid is being given to the commissioner.

At the Pellegrini soft drink parlor a general denial is made of all the allegations that police have used the place as a supply station.

"For long time the place has been closed," said Pellegrini today, "and it has opened only recently because a few men in the neighborhood wished to use the caravans. We have been selling soft drinks and running the card rooms in the evening, but have not been violating the law."

"I have had a report within the last week," said Lynch, "that certain places in West Oakland were running and we have made arrests there. I am working with Commissioner Morse, but am not conducting any separate investigation of the four. I am sure the men in the department who are not right, they should be dismissed and punished, but at the same time innocent men should be freed of suspicion."

A connection between the present investigation and several recent happenings in which policemen figured is admitted by Lynch and Morse.

"HOME BREW" BLAMED FOR ACTIONS

"It may be said the commissioner is the victim of at least two policemen who resented his policies to some of this 'home brew'."

This referred to the episode of a month ago, when a patrolman is alleged to have run amuck in East Oakland and discharged his revolver while drunk.

Various other happenings, apparently unexplainable on the surface, are also believed by Morse to have been inspired from the same source. At that time, he admitted, there was little talk of the "police house ring" existing.

"Such episodes as the present do no good to the reputation of a department or to the city," said Morse. "It is really a menace against the honest majority of the force, as they always inherit the odium of the worst members. It is regrettable that such things have occurred. So far as the evidence would indicate, there is no formal 'boozing ring' in existence, only a series of apparently unrelated incidents which are beginning to look like relations."

It is also admitted that "friends" of certain members of the force are appearing and asserting the innocence of those policemen. In some cases, it is admitted, the innocence is being established before any suspicions are directed toward those patrolmen, furnishing some new angles to the probe.

"Still" Sunday, Plan of Nation-Wide Campaign

(By International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Having made the United States bone dry—theoretically at least—reformers are now busy planning to make the country dead still on Sundays, according to an article in the New York Sun, conspicuously displayed on its first page this afternoon.

The paper claims to have information that organizations similar to the Anti-Saloon League have set a nation-wide campaign to put over another constitutional amendment that would make Sunday a day exclusively devoted to rest, thought, worship and prayer. Strict laws sought by these reformers would rob the Sabbath, among other things, of outdoor sports, moving pictures, business of any description, newspapers, train service of gasoline.

The movers of this plan, according to the Sun, already have organized the country into districts and are energetically pushing legislation, starting with the ban on movies and sports on Sundays.

The South is said to have been already organized, under the direction of L. Cochran Hunt, leader of the Lord's Day Alliance, whose headquarters are in New York. In South Carolina the alliance is working in close cooperation with the Anti-Saloon League, headed by Superintendent R. L. Davis. Dr. Harry L. Bowles, national secretary of the alliance, is quoted by the Sun as confirming the organization's reported plans.

New Judge Is Wanted to Try Pickford Case

Minden Jurist Who Gave the Star Decree May Be Witness

(By Associated Press) LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 24.—A motion that a jurist other than Judge Frank P. Langan be called to try the state's action to dissolve the divorce of Gladys M. Moore, known otherwise as Mary Pickford, motion picture actress, was filed today. The motion was filed by James E. Fowler, state attorney general, in the court at Minden. Nov. today, the divorce was granted at Minden last March.

The motion is based on an affidavit by the attorney-general that Judge Langan, who tried the divorce action, "was a witness for one side or the other" in the hearing of the state's action. The motion asks that county Miss Pickford, who is now Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, "take a like view of the situation."

Argument on a motion to quash the state's action has been set for next Saturday in the Minden court. The affidavit includes a letter written to Judge Langan by the attorney-general, which reads in part:

"I believe that the exigencies of the case require that a judge other than yourself be called to try the proceedings. You will in all probability be a witness for one side or the other, or both, and it seems to me that it would necessarily be more in conformity with propriety for a judge who may be called upon to appear in the capacity of a witness to refrain from participating as the judge in the case."

The affidavit also quoted Judge Langan's reply, which said: "Should I be called as a witness by either party, thereupon such orders as the conditions warrant, will be made for the hearing and disposition of the case."

Four S. P. Trainmen Hurt in Collision

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 24.—Four trainmen were injured, two perhaps fatally, when two Southern Pacific freight trains collided five miles east of here this morning.

The trainmen, who it is feared, will die, are A. F. Strange, conductor, internal injuries and a crushed leg, and W. C. McEvoy, fireman, partially broken below the hips.

All of the injured were brought to a Salem hospital.

The collision was due to a dense fog as the result of which one of the freight trains ran past a flagman.

Armed Force Prevents W. U. Connecting Line

Sub-Chasers Given Orders to Stop Operation of Telegraph

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 24.—What was described as an attempt by the Western Union Tel. Co. to connect its cables from Barbados to a cable from Miami at the west end of the causeway here, was stopped by an armed force from the United States submarine chaser 154. Orders to prevent the connecting of the two cables were issued by the commanding officer of this district from the navy department some time ago and the commander of the submarine chaser had been ordered to prevent any attempt at such an operation.

The fifteen Western Union men are still under guard. This is the first work attempted on the cable since work was stopped by the army and navy last August. The cable across the bay could have been completed in three hours.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—In his speech on the Irish situation in the House of Commons today Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, said detailed plans for the destruction of a large powerhouse in Manchester and of docks in Liverpool had been discovered, the Liverpool plans involving use of 600 pounds of high explosive at 21 points.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Steps for the immediate establishment of peace in Ireland were urged in the House of Commons today by former Premier Asquith, supported by labor members.

John Clines and Arthur Henderson joined Asquith in a motion condemning outrages and police repression.

The motion opened debate on the entire Irish situation. Asquith opened the discussion and Premier Lloyd George was expected to follow.

CORK, Nov. 24.—A bomb exploded on Patrick street last night, killing three persons and injured fifteen. Five of the wounded were in critical condition. Police declared some youths dropped a home-made bomb they were examining. Another report was that the explosive had been thrown from a taxi cab.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Extension of Sinn Fein plots to England was reported here today. It was declared the secret service uncovered plans for violence in London, Liverpool and Manchester. Incriminating documents were said to have been obtained in many raids in southern Ireland.

Reports at the Irish office here were that the number of prospects was the biggest yet undertaken by the government. Hotels were commanded in Dublin and turned over to the soldiers, while private houses were searched for men and documents.

Even the residence of Archbishop Walsh was searched, police arresting the archbishop's valet.

Hundreds of persons were caught in Dublin when the barb wire cordon was thrown about the city. With hotels closed to the public, many sought sleep in the streets.

INTENSIVE RAIDS STILL IN PROGRESS.

Outside Dublin intensive raids still were in progress. At Bally Longford it was reported firing lasted throughout the night, with one civilian killed.

More than 100 persons were arrested in Dublin as uniformed, burned a creamery at Dutharrow. At Castlerea, where police made a search for suspects, one policeman was killed and three persons wounded.

The affidavit also quoted Judge Langan's reply, which said: "Should I be called as a witness by either party, thereupon such orders as the conditions warrant, will be made for the hearing and disposition of the case."

SEARCHES FOR FOWL CLEANS MARKET

"I estimate Oakland wholesale poultry men will be entirely cleaned out by 3 o'clock this afternoon," said Frank W. Dashiell, "if we get rain." The morning rush was so brisk in the wholesale sections that some dealers could not stop to talk about conditions.

RUSH FOR FOWL CLEANS MARKET

"We came in last night from Sacramento. The turkey growers have been unable to gather the birds. We paid $1 to 5 cents for live birds at the farms and hauled them in. The market in Oakland now is short.

We are selling our best turkeys today at 65 cents. Birds not quite so good in quality are 60 cents," said the manager of the L. Pasquale department at the Oakland Poultry Market.

"There are not enough marketable turkeys to be had. We have been selling undressed birds from 19 cents up to 58," said A. W. Knight of S. Herman Company. This company was one of the only ones to accept a high selling price for turkeys.

"Last year we paid 52 to 55 cents a pound. I have just come back from a round of the commission houses, and this year it is 62 to 65 cents. The chicken and poultry market is not so bad," said Mr. Knight.

CHARGES MADE AT EASTBAY MARKET

"I did not seem to be borne out by the federation," said Mr. Knight. "There are many people who would like a little taste of turkey this Thanksgiving and it is going to be very hard for them to get it."

IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE THAT THE EASTBAY MARKET IS NOT AS BIG AS THE WESTBAY MARKET.

"It was pointed out, however, that the Eastbay market did not bear direct relation to those outside markets and that the smaller of these markets is largely due to a similarity of conditions. The market in this region is almost wholly local and the from which provided the birds of the same quality as those in the Westbay market.

CHARGES MADE AT EASTBAY MARKET

"There is no real difference in the quality of the birds in the two markets, and the price is the same.

POULTRY SHOW ENTRY LIST IS OF RECORD SIZE

The sixteenth annual show of the Alameda County Poultry Association opened today in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium with the largest entry in the history of the association. Every available space in the hall and all the outer hall is occupied with pens.

In conjunction with the show, seven poultry meet of exclusive poultry clubs on the Pacific Coast are being held at the same time. Each of the clubs have a large display of their prize birds. The object of the special clubs is to promote interest in the breeding of certain kinds of poultry. The names of the clubs are Rhode Island Reds, American California Brown, Leghorn, American Light Brahma, Silver Wyandotte of America, American Barred Plymouth Rock, American Crested and the Outer Black Orpington.

The exhibit of the American Black Orpington Club which numbers over 200 birds, is attracting the attention of the poultry men of the bay region. A large number of the birds have been awarded first prizes in the show in New York and many other large eastern cities.

One of the features at the show is a group of Black Leghorn chickens. This is the first time that the Black Leghorn chickens have been exhibited on this coast. The birds are raised in the eastern states, but on this coast they are only raised in small numbers.

The work of judging the birds started this morning. John J. Smith, general manager of the show, says that the judges will have their work finished by noon tomorrow. The judges are C. G. Hinds, W. G. Russell, both of Oakland; Harry Collier, Tacoma, Wash.; E. E. Emerson, Los Angeles, and Clyde Williams, Fullerton.

1920 Will Be Big Year for Marriages

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—That 1920 will end with more than 40,000 marriages celebrated in California, breaking all previous records, is the prediction of L. E. Ross, head of the State bureau of vital statistics. Ross stated that the records of his office show that over 37,000 marriages have already been performed in the State this year.

WRECK LEADS TO JAIL

RENO, Nev., Nov. 24.—Harry Treat, charged with the theft of $5,000 worth of automobile tires from a Baltimore and Ohio railroad yard in Chicago, was arrested here yesterday. Treat was painfully injured and his wife killed when his automobile was struck near Sparks last week by a Southern Pacific train. The accident is declared to have given the Chicago authorities a clue to his presence here.

"At the roadside to see Anabela. I was calling again, even though it was now dark, and we were to be married in a month. She was looking like a bulbul, a gazelle, and a tea-rose, and her eyes were as soft and bright as two quarts of cream skimmed off from the Milky Way. She looked at my rugged features without any expression of fear or repugnance. Indeed, I fancied that I saw a look of deep admiration and affection, such as she had cast at Fergus on the day of our wedding."

"I sat down, and opened my mouth to tell Anabela what she loved to hear—that she was a trusty, monopolizing all the loveliness of earth. I opened my mouth, and instead of the usual vibrating words of love and compliment, there came forth a faint wheeze such as a baby with a croup might emit. Not a word, not a syllable—not a single audible sound—I had caught cold in my far-off regions when I took my injurious bath."

"For two hours I sat trying to entertain Anabela. She talked a certain amount, but it was perfunctory and diluted. The nearest approach I made to speech was to formulate a sound like the claim trying to sing a song like the Life Boat, at low tide. It did not rest upon me as often as usual, had nothing with which to charm her eyes. We looked at pictures and she played the guitar occasionally, very badly. When I left, her parting manner seemed cool—or at least thoughtful.

"This happened—for five evenings consecutively.

"On the sixth day she ran away with John McLean."

"It was known that they fled in a sailing yacht bound for Belize. I was eight hours behind them in a small steam launch belonging to the Revenue Department.

"Before I sailed, I rushed into the bottom of old Michael Iquto's half-burned cabin, dressed. I could not speak but I pointed to my throat and made a sound like escaping steam. He began to yawn. In an hour, according to the clock, he had crawled up the stairs, waited on me, reached across the counter, seized him by the throat, and pointed again to my own. He yawned once more, and thrust into my hand a small bottle containing a dark liquid.

"Take one small spoonful every two hours," said he.

"I threw him a dollar and skinned off."

"I steamed into the harbor at Belize thirteen seconds behind the yacht that Anabela and Fergus were on. They started to the shore, a full moon, a stiff wind howling over the side. I tried to order my sailors to row faster, but the sounds died in my larynx before they came to the right. Then I thought of the liquid I had given him. I took off his bottle and took a swallow of it."

"The two boats landed at the same moment. I walked straight up to Anabela and Fergus. Her eyes rested upon me for instant, then she turned them, full of feeling and confidence, upon Fergus. I knew I could not speak but I was deeply moved.

"Anabela, said she, when you are talking to me I can hear nothing else—can see nothing else—there is nothing else and nobody else in the world for me."

"There's about all of the story. Anabela went back to Oratuma in the steamer with me. I never heard what became of Fergus. I never saw him any more. Anabela is now Mrs. Judson Tate. Has my story bored you much?"

"No," said I. "I am always interested in psychological studies. A human heart—and especially a woman's—is a wonderful thing to contemplate."

"It is," said Judson Tate. "And so are the trachea and the bronchial tubes of man. And the larynx too. Did you ever make a study of the windpipe?"

"Never," said I. "But I have taken much pleasure in your story. Why I ask after Mrs. Judson Tate more of her present health and whereabouts?"

"Oh, sure," said Judson Tate. "We are living in Bergen Avenue, Jersey City. The climate down in Oratuma didn't suit me. I don't suppose they ever dissected the arytenoid cartilages of the epiglottis, did you?"

"Why, no," said I. "I am no surgeon."

"Pardon me," said Judson Tate, "but every man should know enough of anatomy and therapeutics to safeguard his own health. A sudden cold may set up capillary bronchitis or inflammation of the pulmonary vessels, which may result in a serious affection of the vocal organs."

"Perhaps so," said I, with some impatience. "But that need not here affect your studies of the strange manifestations of the affection of women."

"Yes, yes," interrupted Judson Tate, "they have—such things as a sore throat and whooping cough."

JOSEPH LHEVINNE RECITAL PLEASES

BY ROY HARRISON DANFORTH

Joseph Lhevinne is a poet, not a pounder, and so, in an era of pounders, is apt occasionally to be misunderstood. He deployed his artistic forces last evening before an audience of trained listeners at the opening concert of the Berkeley Musical Association and escaped that fate for the time. Because it was such an audience it appreciated pure pianism, and that is precisely what Lhevinne purveys. There is not a consuming fire in his playing; it falls 99 per cent short of being sensational. But for brimstone and sensations he substitutes an immaculate technique, exquisite dynamic shading, intelligent phrasing, and an exploitation of resources through which a rapid sensitive soul forever peers.

From all of this it may be judged that Joseph Lhevinne is an oasis amid the hot sands of awful geniuses which an ordinary season of pianists offers our footsteps. He is of the same refreshing order as Rudolph Ganz, less purely cerebral and more definitely romantic. He is just another pianist, and offers us the piano for what it is worth, remembering the innumerable graces it possesses and willing to abide in these rather than distort them to the orchestral compass.

He is also temperamental—may lexigraphers send us soon a substitute word for that?—will also be gleaned from the fact that the initial number, the E flat minor sonata of Beethoven, went as easily as though given to us as successors. There was little to move one in "L'Adieu" (not "Les Adieux," as the program has it), though the plaintive second movement began to indicate the artist's calibre. Two transcriptions by Liszt from Schubert were introductions to the prodigious technique about to be unfolded and a ballade and four studies of Chopin's music were subfilled the program, but were expression of that genuine poetic feeling that ability to sublimate sentiment without precipitating sentimentalism as well, which distinguishes his playing.

Three preludes of Rachmaninoff were expressions of dignified power and in "The Lark," Clink-Balakirev, and the F minor étude of Dohnanyi he reached easily the climax of his program. The study of tremendous import, dazzling in its color and yet marked by such subtle coloring as seemed inconsonant therewith, it was playing of an order that must have moved the most sodden of souls; it moved this audience to something like a frenzy of acclaim. A transcription of "The Blue Danube" brought the program to a tuneful close. Lhevinne was most warmly applauded. The Liszt number had two unexpected sequels and at the end there was no riddling himself of his auditors until he had given them a further gratuitous taste of his art.

Amateur Milliners Display Creations

How to be modishly gowned and snap fingers at the high cost of dressing was demonstrated yesterday at the Oakland Technical High School when the first Fashion Show in the Smith-Hughes vocational courses was held.

Amateur milliners, dressmakers and designers contributed their modest efforts to the unique display. The chapeaux and garments were made in the evening classes gathering scores of women, mostly matrons, into the ranks of the students.

If so it will pay you to investigate this invention of Dr. Schaffert. It has stood the test of years in Oakland and made good. Here are the advantages.

This plate prevents a flat hard mouth; fits in years to come, such as you will have with a cheap inferior old style plate. Looks to your future. Don't pick the cheapest plate you can find. It doesn't pay. It is not cheap or expensive. All kinds of plates made, but nothing less than $2.00. You will wear my teeth for years. Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Every now and then a letter drifts in which lifts the lid off the whole pot of modern problems. Here's one of them:

Dear Geraldine:

Three of us have decided to "pool" our troubles so as to make a nice big bunch of weeds for that accommodating shoulder of yours. And being the only one who can type I've been delegated the one to write.

First: What do you think about a married woman whose husband is perfectly able to support her well, but not extravagantly? But she hates housework and partly (I'm not altogether because she wants some luxuries that she could not be able to have if she did not work) she wants a child almost nine and the work the woman is thinking of doing would allow her to have the child with her after school hours, until she could afford a housekeeper.

WHAT IS THE DANGEROUS AGE FOR WOMEN?

Second: Do most women get restless between the ages of thirty and thirty-five and is that what is called "the dangerous age" for a woman. And what do you think is the cause? (By "restless" we mean thinking they don't love their husbands anymore and want to get a divorce.)

Third: Should a wife take back her husband after he has left her for over a year without any support and given her grounds for divorce in other ways, etc. She has no children and can support herself partly because she hates housework and partly (I'm not altogether because she wants some luxuries that she could not be able to have if she did not work) she wants a child almost nine and the work the woman is thinking of doing would allow her to have the child with her after school hours, until she could afford a housekeeper.

From these questions you can guess, Geraldine, that we are none of us "spring chickens" but if you will give us some advice (we may not be so agreeable about taking it) we will be eternally grateful. We just want to get a disinterested person's point of view.

Most sincerely, WE THREE.

They're BIG questions, Sister, too big for me to answer I fear. But here's a try at it.

YOUR KIDDIES, AND YOUR HUSBAND'S PRIDE

FIRST QUESTION—I see no reason why a woman should not do outside work in her spare time PROVIDED she neglects none of the obligations she has already assumed in order to do it. Those obligations are of two classes. The first—the sewing, cooking, and cleaning you can easily pay for when you once establish yourself on an earning basis. BUT there are other duties that you can't pay for. You are holding in those hands the fate of your progeny. That's a heavy load, I know. And CONFIDENCES: your husband's PRIDE and RE-FRESHMENT. CAN YOU ATTEND TO THESE DUTIES AND STILL DO OUTSIDE WORK?

Many women can and do but believe me sisters, it's ONE TWO FIST ED JOB!!! There's no romance, or excitement about it. It takes all the grit and humor and patience in the world.

HERE'S THE SLACKER-IN-THE-HOME ISSUE

I'm talking to you straight, girls. I know the woman's world—from the dust under the bed to the broken arched feeling after a reception. I know all the man's world—from the opening road to the walled city of the world. AND, TELL ME, TELL TALLS, THE MODERN HOME WOMAN HAS THE EASIER END OF IT.

I know why you want to do it. It's a big adventure if you can put it over—and four walls mean almost MADNESS sometimes, don't they? But you'll need more than cold cream to keep you young if you try to buck the modern business game. And you'll feel as if someone had walked on your soul with hot nailed boots. IF YOU CAN CARRY BOTH JOBS GO TO IT. But there's only one name for the human who has down on the job he has already assigned and that's—SLACKER. You girls won't try to evade that for somehow I know you're SQUARE.

DO THEY WANT TO DIVORCE THEIR HUSBANDS?

SECOND QUESTION—The expression "dangerous age" was originally applied to the years around forty-five when a woman is apt to think that life holds no more big adventures. But if you can show me ANY age to a woman's married life that ISN'T dangerous, I'd be obliged. Yes, I think that between thirty and thirty-five many women want to divorce their husbands. Likewise, let me assure you, sisters, the idea isn't original with the ladies—not the resources. See you tomorrow with the same yearning.

I think it's because we've counted altogether too much on marriage as a solution for human longings. So when the hunger for more life comes, back again, we immediately "blame it on the other fellow" and want to make a change. The change won't help us—only temporarily. Provided the partner is half as bad as the original partners are until you Nag them into better stick to the original deal.

The only cure which I honestly know, Paix, for the everlasting restlessness is to climb out of our own lives into other lives. I'm not preaching. I'm telling you—that's all. Find something to do for other folks—and then find more to do. That's the only way you'll get up to your neck in the BIG ADVENTURE—and you'll never feel contented until you are up to your neck.

DO YOU SHOULDN'T TAKE HIM BACK?

THIRD QUESTION—And now I'm going to be franker than ever. Will you still let me alone and leave this one to help you? I'm not going to do it ON THIS "FORGIVENESS" BASIS. FOR THEY NEVER WILL BE HAPPY TOGETHER. That man has done a terrible wrong, but his greatest wrong was to himself. He was a SLACKER and he is going to come back with that brand on his soul. He will have failed, not in his promise to a woman, but far worse IN HIS PROMISE TO THE STANDARDS OF MANLINESS. What he will need is not forgiveness, but UNDERSTANDING. I DETEST this habit humans have of "forgiving" each other. It sounds so endlessly concealed. But we can look deep into suffering souls, we can put out kind hands to heal, we can bring back pride with love and laughter. Take him back on THAT basis.

As for marrying that other man and "making a fresh start in life." YOU NEVER CAN MAKE A FRESH START IN LIFE. All you have done, all you have LEFT UNDONE, will march beside you always. If you can stand its questioning, well and good. But don't think you can shake it off.

Sisters—I've given you the clearest, gamiest truth I know. It isn't "pretty talking" but it surely holds my love and wish to help.

SAN JOSE FLYER KILLED IN FALL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Captain Max L. McCollough, army aviator, was killed at Bolling Field here yesterday when his plane fell in a nose dive a few seconds after taking off. The officer's home address is San Jose, Calif.

Captain Max L. McCollough was the son of the late Capt. J. H. McCollough of the Christian church, former president of the denominational school at Irvington and editor of the denominational publication published in San Francisco. His brother, J. H. McCollough Jr., is a merchant and manufacturer of San Jose.

Captain McCollough was managing director of the Salvation Army drive in San Jose last year. He was originally from the Middle West, but had lived in San Jose for several years. He was 27 and unmarried. His mother lives in the Naglee Park section in San Jose.

Rainless Thursday, Maybe, Says Beals

Although there is a likelihood of showers in extreme Northern California tonight and tomorrow, E. A. Beals, district forecaster, expressed the belief there is a probability of being no rain in this section for the next twenty-four hours. The weather, although somewhat uncertain, may become threatening. This would indicate that Thanksgiving day may be cloudy or rainy. He said from his observations a disturbance now off the coast between Cape Flattery and Dutch Harbor has not developed any degree of intensity, and so far most definitely has been observed in extreme northern parts of the State.

W. L. Hollingsworth, Republican elector, led with a total of 73,192 votes. James J. Honey, Democratic elector, polled 21,479.

Socialists supported Elector R. W. Anderson with 9,662 votes. Prohibition forces gave Elector H. A. Johnson 1975.

In the senatorial race Samuel Shortridge carried Alameda county by nearly 6,000 votes. He polled 15,471, James D. Phelan polled 12,691.

For Congress, J. A. Elston outstripped Margaret Shipleys with a total of 35,616 against 15,151.

Mullins, running for supervisor, received 13,936 votes, as against 9,484 for Nixon.

Stevens polled the highest vote for presiding justice, District Court of Appeals, with 61,113 votes. Nunes stood second, 50,874.

In the contest for seats on the Superior Court bench, Judge Samuels led with 77,852 votes; J. G. Quinn received 77,116 and T. W. Harris received 75,498.

Certified returns on the twenty state amendments, with votes both for and against, are as follows:

No.	Yes	No
1.	74,285	25,714
2.	44,182	55,119
3.	29,509	69,586
4.	37,919	62,070
5.	40,165

WHY I'M THANKFUL THIS 1920 THANKSGIVING

Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler

President Emeritus, University of California

There are certain and sundry things whose possession most commonly bids us be thankful:

FIRST—An equipment of body and mind such as helps us appreciate the world we live in.

SECOND—An education such that we may understand our environment and govern it.

THIRD—Normal health for daily life.

FOURTH—Freedom to choose our way.

FIFTH—If our choice is a mistake, power to carry the burden, and not falter.

SIXTH—Power to see the good side of things.

SEVENTH—Preference for gains achieved without loss to our neighbor.

EIGHTH—Consciousness that there is a moral order in the background of the world.

John L. Davie
Mayor of Oakland

Oakland has indeed much to be thankful for at this Thanksgiving time of the year, 1926. We can be thankful for the wonderful prospects which our city has as an industrial and commercial center. The early rain insures good crops for the coming year and Oakland will share in the general prosperity which attends upon the marketing of the products of the agricultural territory surrounding our city. We can be thankful that our country is again at peace; that our industries are forging ahead under contracts which will keep them busily engaged. We should be especially thankful that we of Oakland live in a beautiful city with its wonderful climate, the best to be found in the United States. Oakland as a city has many, many reasons to be especially thankful at this Thanksgiving period.

Hello Girls Will Eat for Thin Dime

MACON, Ga., Nov. 24.—Thanksgiving dinner complete for 10 cents is served for tomorrow by Mrs. H. D. Arthur, superintendent of the Macon Telephone Exchange, to the telephone employees. Mrs. Arthur said today she expected at least to "break even" on the dinner and announced her menu of unlimited portions would consist of baked goose with cranberry sauce, oyster dressing, stewed corn, celery, rolls and coffee.

ELECTION PAY CASE ASSIGNED

Trial of the test suit filed by Mrs. Lucy Barker against City Auditor Harry G. Williams to determine whether or not the city can be forced to pay $2 each to election officers for the extra work of handling the city election ballots at the presidential election has been assigned to department six of the Superior Court.

Attorney Clinton G. Dodge represents the plaintiff. He will petition the court for an order requiring that the city either pay the $2 claimed by Lucy Barker or show cause why they should not pay it by a given date.

Payment to election officials of the extra $2 promised them by the city council has been held up by Williams on a ruling from City Attorney Hagan saying that such payment is illegal.

Williams said that he has been willing and is still willing to pay the $2, but has only held up payment because of the city attorney's ruling.

Two Women Claim Husbands Are Cruel

That her husband seized her hat from her head and tore it in pieces while they were walking along Broadway, that he accused her of flirting with other man and that he called her names, are allegations made by Mrs. Jane Connors in her suit for divorce against William J. Connors just filed in the superior court. She asks $40 alimony.

Mrs. Ellen V. Scott asks for $1000, for relief, which her husband owes her, $1500 rent for the custody of four minor children and for $25 a month maintenance in her suit against William J. Scott. She alleges he treated her cruelly and used vile language toward her in the presence of the children.

REALTY COMPANY SUES

Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 26.—Realty Company has filed suit against Mr. S. F. Springer, Mrs. Edith M. Lucas, Ella S. Martin and others to quiet title to nine lots in Thousand Oaks, Berkeley.

125 BROADWAY

Route all Freight direct to Oakland % Pacific Mail S.S.C. via Balfour Lawrence Warehouses Company Inc.

Louis Bartlett
Mayor of Berkeley

Many are the things for which the people in Berkeley and the bay section in particular and the United States at large should be thankful for tomorrow.

We should be grateful that we live in a land which not only adequately suffers from the results of the great war. We have suffered, yes, but the violent period of reconstruction which is the fate of many lands of Europe, we have been spared.

Gradually but surely we are returning to normal times and the outlook for the future is brighter than ever before.

We should be thankful here in California that we live in a land of sunshine and showers and can spend our Thanksgiving under bright skies and not in the snowstorms of other climes. In Berkeley we should feel grateful for the splendid year of prosperity we are just concluding; for the happy spirit of co-operation which has always marked our civic affairs, and for the prospects of greater work still to come.

Personally I am thankful for having been chosen the official leader of one of California's fairest cities and for the privilege of working for the best interests of a community which I love.

These and other blessings too numerous to recount are sufficient reasons why we should unite in our praise-giving tomorrow.

HIP, HIP, HOORAY! CHINATOWN GETS ITS 'NG KAPY'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—There was joy unconfined in Chinatown today. The treasury department directed Collector of Customs Davis to release 60,000 quarts of "ng ka py," a Chinese concoction of roots, herbs and alcohol guaranteed to cure all human ailments, including the blues. The technical division which examined the "ng kap" reported that although its alcoholic content was high, its disagreeable flavor made it unfit for beverage purposes for the white race."

East Twelfth Street Traffic Is Discussed

A conference with Western Pacific officials was held today by George Mattis, superintendent of streets, in an endeavor to find a way to eliminate the Western Pacific tracks from East Twelfth street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-sixth avenues.

The highway main artery out of Oakland, has seen an enormous increase of traffic in the past few years due to the Western Pacific. The road is now completely full of machines, also full of railroads. At present, it is admitted, there seems little prospect of moving the tracks or changing the franchise, but the engineers are trying every possible means of solving the problem of increasing traffic.

"It will always be regretted that the tracks were placed on that street," says Mattis.

Salt Freight Rate Held Discriminatory

Complain that the new Western Pacific freight rate on salt from Burt and Salduro to Oakland is a discrimination against local salt producers was telegraphed to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Macon Telephone Exchange today in accordance with instructions given at the meeting of that organization last night.

The exchange appointed Congressman J. Arthur Elston a delegate of the exchange of the National Rivers and Harbors congress convening in Washington on December 8.

Announcement was made that Marston Campbell, former city superintendent of streets and head of the building program of the Oakland school department, will speak before the exchange on the evening of December 7 to explain the Oakland school building program.

Hotel Keepers Will Fight Court Verdict

Following a report made to the Hotel Keepers' association, which is said to have interested itself in the case, the Friedman Realty company, owners of the Hotel Touraine, today notified Judge Harry W. Puleifer that it will institute a battle in the higher courts to avoid payment of the judgment of $250 given to Mrs. Hattie Springer for $2000 worth of jewelry alleged to have been stolen from her room by Frank McGee, hotel porter.

The judgment was for only $500 in that the law limits the liability of innkeepers to that amount. McGee was captured in the past and now is serving a sentence in a state prison for the offense.

Judge Puleifer has received a letter from an attorney representing the association asking for information as to what particular feature of the case was the basis of the judgment and has replied that the testimony of G. McInroy, manager of the Hotel Touraine, was contradicted to employ. McGee often being warned by the police that he previously had been accused of theft showed contributory negligence.

TOM THUMB, strutting about the poultry yard on the Davis Farm of the University of California, was interviewed for The TRIBUNE by Professor J. E. Dougherty of the poultry division, U. C. He said:

"Being a publican bird, I am thankful, first of all, that I am not like other turkeys—al garnished, dressed and stuffed up in honor of the day."

I have looked with envy upon the occupants of a neighboring yard and have felt some small anger as I perceived the dainties that made up their repast. This feeling has passed away. I am thankful I am not like they are."

"It will always be regretted that the tracks were placed on that street," says Mattis.

Salt Freight Rate Held Discriminatory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The rush to stock up in whisky and other liquors before the "great drought" brought into the treasury $126,000,000 in taxes this year, or about one-fourth of the government's total revenues in pre-war days, the internal revenue bureau announced today.

With the last night shot the set-off of the dry era, such revenue are all but vanishing, officials said, and future taxes upon distilled spirits withdrawn from bonded warehouses for non-beverage purposes, probably will not reach one-twentieth of the present year's receipts.

Thanksgiving in Reverse English
By H. E. Brunner, Trustee, Hayward

Be thankful? In the good old days I could buy a steak for 20 cents and have 40 cents left. Now I am soaked 60 cents and have only $2.20 left. Then earning only $2 per day I started to pay for a home at a reasonable price and taxes were low. Now I own the place, but look at the taxes. They are away up and the place is worth twice what I paid for it. And I see that my income tax is getting bigger each year.

I used to be able to work to enjoy the prevailing modicum.

Now all that I can tolerate is the chickens, the fruit trees or the trout patch (raised by my folks).

High rents are driving hundreds of families out onto one or more acre lots to build their homes. This spoils the nice large ranches we used to be so proud of. And now they propose to inflict a City State tax.

I might also reflect how nice it would be to live in Vienna, where you don't have to pay a license for everything. There you can trade an ancestral painting for a head of wilted spinach without a trade license or can hunt the wolf at your very door without a hunting license.

On Thanksgiving day, while eating my third helping of turkey at 75 cents dressed, I will perhaps maybe reflect how nice it would be to live in Vienna, where you don't have to pay a license for everything. There you can trade an ancestral painting for a head of wilted spinach without a trade license or can hunt the wolf at your very door without a hunting license.

I might also reflect that any denizen of Alameda county, California, U. S. A. is 12 years old and I who am 12 years old my papa has died nine years and mamma has been sick so could some Good fellow help us to have a real Christmas we would like to have some clothes which would be better than toys for we need them much more but my brother is quite tall for his age bearing Dear Good fellow we will be not forgotten please don't put my name in the paper."

It took three days to discover the model for the painting, because no owner of a bottle of Tipto would loan it carelessly, you know."

The defendants set up that a picture of even such a priceless object as a bottle of Tipto is worth not more than $5.

"I don't know, it looks mighty good the day before Thanksgiving," was the judge's comment.

TWO GAMES TOMORROW WIND UP COAST FOOTBALL SEASON

AMATEUR BALL GAMES AND DOG RACES WILL BE ONLY SPORTING EVENTS HERE THANKSGIVING

SAILORS VS. OLYMPICS

King Football Dies Hard

SANTA CLARA VS. RENO

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Marking the close of one of the most successful football seasons the Pacific Coast has ever known, tomorrow's game will, to all intents and purposes, see the season closed. All year the fans of the West have been treated to high class games, but of a type, in this section particularly, which could nearly always be doped out in advance. Scores this season have meant nothing though in the way of dope, but with the exception of the Oregon-Stanford fracas, every contest has ended the way the followers of the game had anticipated it would. The pair of games scheduled for the bay region tomorrow—Santa Clara vs. University of Nevada at Ewing Field, and Olympic Club vs. Pacific Fleet at California Field, Berkeley, refuse on the face of matter to be doped and will be a high power finish to the departure of King Football.

Collegiate attention is centered on the Santa Clara-Nevada affair in San Francisco, which brings together two teams which have made excellent showings, and which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at the field of the Pacific Fleet. Postponed by the University of Southern California, the game was doped out. The Nebrascans were badly trounced in mid-season by the undefeated Blue and Gold varsity, and later suffered a close defeat at the hands of the University of Southern California. It is interesting to note that in both games the Nevadans were able to score on their powerful opponents, and in the first game, marking the first time in history that the goal line had been crossed during the season. Clara dropped their only game to Stanford and the grand of football the Mississippis have displayed this season is a credit to the coaching work of J. Emmett Harlan. The proudest pickets are reported to be an excellent team for their battle with the boys from the Nevada desert and the other games the Santa Clarians have played this season have shown them to be a powerful team. The game will be a close and hard-fought affair from start to finish and will attract much attention. In this section, for it is the last collegiate game of the year that local football fans will have an opportunity to witness.

California Field.

Scene of Big Game

Over in Berkeley, California Field will be the scene of the football action taken on the strong Olympic Club aggregation of former collegiate stars. Although a club game, this little football contest will be the highlight of the Thanksgiving program of the season for the teams evenly matched from all appearances and now that the field has had an opportunity to dry out, the stars are expected to put on a good show. Some real flashy and spectacular football Commissioner Jack Shauder, who is handling the affairs of the Olympic club, has his nerve and spirit up and primed for action, and the Winger "O" will trot onto the field looking more like an all-around workman than a clubman.

On the other hand, Coach Jonas Ingram of the Pacific Fleet has some little assortment of stars himself, and the fans have not quite enough enthusiasm to be interested in the game. The number of holes won, halved or lost by each of the players is of much less consequence in a best ball match. The most decided game California the figures were as follows:

Abe Espinoza won 4, halved 23, lost 16; L. Espinoza won 4, halved 23, lost 16; John Black won 5, halved 13, lost 16; Bob Black won 0, halved 24, lost 16.

Bob Black's figures don't show up well with the others, but four of his 24 halved holes saved his side from losses. In the entire series of games played the results were as follows:

John Black won 10, halved 52, lost 40; Bob Black won 10, halved 52, lost 39; Abe Espinoza won 10, halved 52, lost 39; L. Espinoza won 10, halved 52, lost 39.

For four different holes the Blacks both had double wins and Bob had a win at the 18th after the Sequoyah match was over. The Espinozas had a decided record and now dominate wins at any hole during the entire 108 holes.

Gossip of Golfers

By W. D. McNICOLL.

On analyzing the scores in the recent Black-Espinoza matches some startling points come to light. In a number of cases the players are not reliable, as players relax or make special efforts just as necessity arises and it is frequently left to the official in filling in the common score methods in filling in the scores at some holes. There were several cases of apparently generous concessions, but the third hole at Sequoyah in the new tee measures about 140 yards and Al Espinoza, who had previously hit an approach for an eagle 3 at the long hole, got the honor and hit a beautiful mashie into the pin. Bob Black was short and trapped in the water hazard. John Black was on the green, but further from the pin than Al Espinoza. Bob Black not only wanted to be out of the trap, but trying to get close enough for a par, boldly hit a shot which Espinoza looked like getting. Bob did not even get out, and picked up. The pin had just failed to hole their putts for birdies. The editor of the San Jose Star, and Editor Oakes of the Livermore Journal soon had his entire staff of trained newsmen on the job hunting clews.

Looks like somebody on Oakwood crammed on Mister Simpson.

"I should know whether it was a man or a woman," yelped Wainwright. "You don't think I was going to draw the cover of the body?" It's on the bed all covered up, with just the feet sticking out, then the bloody knife hatchet laying on the floor and the table and chairs are all broken and there's blood all over the place. Jess and I went out to build a porch on the shack but the joint is still porous; we came right back."

That's why Simpson organized his forces bright and early yesterday morning and headed for Livermore. In the party were Louie Bernstein, Charlie Swinehart, Charlie Joseph and a newspaper boy.

Justice of the Peace Fitzgerald of Livermore was consulted and he sent Traffic Officer Pete Wright to the scene.

Arrangements have been made to handle a crowd of 8000 fans, and the game will be at 4 p.m. in order that it will not interfere with Thanksgiving-day dinner schedules and special car service has been arranged between Market and Santa Clara streets in San Jose and Sotolito Park field, where the game will be played.

BROLASKI TRIAL PUT OVER; TILT STARTS IN COURT

Small's Alleged Abductor Is Taken Back to Toronto

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

PORLTAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—John Doughty, in custody of Austin P. Mitchell, chief of detectives of Toronto, Canada, left here today for Toronto.

Mitchell said they would stop in Chicago between trains and pick up $100,000 in Canadian Victory bonds, property of the missing Amos J. Small, millionaire theatrical man of Toronto, which Mitchell said Doughty had admitted depositing there.

Mitchell and Doughty spent the night together at a hotel here. Doughty, who was arrested at Oregon City last Friday, Monday night agreed to return to Toronto without extradition proceedings.

The last time I saw Small was the night of December 2 last year," said Doughty in reply to questions concerning the disappearance of Small, for whom Doughty was private secretary.

BELIEVES SMALL STILL LIVES

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

COLLEGE POINT, N. Y., Nov. 24.—John Doughty, under arrest in Portland, Ore., holds the key to the mysterious disappearance of Ambrose Small, the "vanished millionaire" of Toronto, in the belief today of Mrs. Small.

Upon being informed that Doughty—who disappeared on the night of December 2 last year—had been arrested, Mrs. Small declared she felt renewed hope that her husband would be found or that she would at least learn his fate.

Murphy and Schultes have been the object of an unrelenting search by the authorities ever since their induction into the military service. They still will be sought or will voluntarily surrender by December 7 created a mild sensation.

ALL TO BE IN COURT
It was noted that Geis explained it would be undesirable to bring the trial of Geis, Gamace and Newson, on liberty on bonds of $10,000 each, without the presence of the two additional defendants. This was interpreted to mean that when Brodaski goes to trial all of his alleged associates will be present in court.

Murphy and Schultes have been the object of an unrelenting search by the authorities ever since their induction into the military service. They still will be sought or will voluntarily surrender by December 7 created a mild sensation.

"They are beginning to scratch me and I am going to scratch back."

Confident of an empty courtroom, he informed that before Dooling had left the city to spend Thanksgiving in Hollister, Brodaski sought to interview Geis and Silva.

RESORTS TO PHONE
In this he entered an office in the federal building and started to get into telephone communication with Silva.

"I understand that your assistant, Benjamin Geis, is asking for and objecting to continuance of my case, said that I had been notified to be in court. This is a lie and I want to serve notice on you, Mr. Silva, and Mr. Gols, that you have started something that I will finish."

"The government has some ulterior motive in these continuances and, since I have been scratched, I am going to scratch back."

Mr. Brodaski later wore in conference with Silva for the announced purpose of having the case brought to trial on the original date.

U. C. Faculty Will Read Eleven Papers

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—University of California faculty members will dominate the twenty-second annual meeting of the Philological Association of the Pacific Coast on Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Plaza, according to the program announced today.

Eleven of the eighteen papers to be read are products of the plan of university scholarships and will be based on scholarships and financial needs.

"So many boys and girls drop out of high schools because they cannot afford an education," says Mrs. Duglin. "This scholarship is a new one for high schools, but we hope to interest all mothers' clubs to start funds in their own schools. If only one boy or one girl really anxious or a high school education is kept in school each year the work will have been well worth while."

Mr. Brodaski was recently chosen to inaugurate the work in the second district.

Wooden Guns
Used to Train
Troops, Claim

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—That artillery troops for the American army in the world war were forced to drill with "improvised wooden guns, hope, harness and other expedients, specially of lack of equipment" is officially revealed in the annual report of Major General William J. Snow, chief of field artillery.

"Large quantities of guns, howitzers, ammunition and other artillery material are on hand, left over from the war," the report said, "and the country thus for the first time in half a century has on hand sufficient supplies of artillery to equip a large size army."

Demobilization difficulties made it almost impossible to carry on regular peace time training of the artillery service. General Snow said an effort was made to keep two regiments trained and recruited up to strength for possible border duty.

Army accomplishments during the year with the motorization of four regiments and the addition of tanks is included in the list of two and a half and five-ton tractors; the development of new gas ad smoke shells and successful incendiary shells by the chemical warfare service and an extensive test of pack equipment for mountain artillery under service conditions.

"Gratifying results" have been obtained through the training of reserve officers for the field artillery at schools and colleges, the report declared. More than 3000 students now are taking the artillery course at different schools, with more than 8000 trained officers in the reserve corps.

British Major Is Swing Airplane Firm

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 24.—Major S. C. Parr, formerly of the British Flying Corps, has filed suit against the Curtis Airplane and Motor Corporation for damages to the amount of $2,575, claiming malicious prosecution on two charges by the defendant corporation.

Major Parr was arrested on an information made by J. M. Duffey, general field superintendent of the Curtiss Company, on March 13, 1920. The case was dismissed by a jury.

Major Parr was again arrested charged with embezelling an airplane. The case was tried in the Riverside courts and Parr was acquitted by a jury.

You also can easily start your hens laying and keep them laying all winter long, even in the coldest winter. To prove it, accept our offer, as Mrs. Young did.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch parades. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be returned. Our "China Egg-Laying" is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger. It helps to keep the eggs dry, prevents worms, and gets the eggs no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist, your dealer, or send $1.00 (includes tax) for a package by mail. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

THE WAYS OF A DEMOCRACY.

Government democracy has its tragedies as well as its triumphs, observes Mr. Alfred P. Thom of Washington, D. C. "Its triumphs are for the most part in the realm of human liberty. Its tragedies are generally in the field of business and economics."

Whatever the argument for which Mr. Thom proposes to use this statement as the basis, it pretty generally expresses a salient truth regarding the democracy which is America. There may be divergent views as to the exact character of our triumphs and our failures, and there may be utter absence of agreement as to the causes of each, but the actual condition is as stated.

A great triumph of any established democracy is the election of a chief executive. As a mighty example there was the election in the United States on November 2 last. With some 27,000,000 citizens voting, out of a total of 35,000,000 eligible voters, the President of the nation was elected in a single day, without disorder, without fraud or corruption, with the conscience and devotion of the citizens to their ideals directing the procedure. Over seventy per cent of the eligible voters in a country whose population is 106,000,000 exercised their right of suffrage and the majority decision prevails without protest or any significant discontent, and in this particular instance, without surprise or disappointment.

As a triumph of democracy, this last presidential election was really a magnificent spectacle. Three years ago, there was an even more thrilling spectacle—the country uniting as one man and concentrating its mighty force of energy and public opinion upon the prosecution of a war with powerful foreign enemies. Then democracy was at its best. It showed its superiority over the long established ruling oligarchies of Europe, those absolutists of government who were once inclined to boast of their efficiency.

Again it is worth recalling the triumph of democracy in this country, when in its infancy of independence from foreign autocratic rule, it set up a government of its own selection and device, prescribing the method of its conduct and the limitations of the several co-ordinating departments; and the still further triumph of keeping faith with the early ideals and ideals through 150 years of changing time.

These things are in the field of human liberty, wherein the people exercise their right of constituting the government and preserve themselves against undue encroachment of the governing idea upon their personal freedom.

But it is equally striking that democracy fails in its ventures in business and economics. There is the instance of the operation of the railroads by the federal government, and the later caprices of inefficiency in the administration of the shipping board after the war fervor had passed. Frequently in the history of this country the people have gone wrong on their conception of economic judgment and their endorsement of policies and programs.

There must be a fundamental reason why people who are on the whole eminently successful in business as individuals, fail when they, as a government prefer to be the masters of business. May this reason not be that the people of a democracy prefer to be the masters of business.

CABARET TAX OF $50 IS PASSED BY CITY COUNCIL

Lower License Fight By Bacus Is Lost; Davie Votes Against Raise

In spite of a battle by Commissioner Bacus for a lower license, the cabaret ordinance, describing and regulating such places and charging a quarterly tax of $50, was given final passage this morning by the City Council and is now law.

Bacus pleaded that a $25 license was large enough, especially as regulation is the aim rather than revenue. Mayor Davie voted with him.

Bacus also objected to the definition of a cabaret, which means any place furnishing amusement free with meals. He said this would apply to the Hotel Oakland, with its music and dances. The ordinance now excludes hotels. Bacus also asserted that some cabarets are having hard times right now, and suggested that the proposed license may mean a handicap on their operations.

The council also called for bids for materials for a new spur track at the principal wharf terminal, or pier, on the waterfront, out so that the city's waterfront business has expanded so that the extra track is vitally necessary.

The repair of the old building of Hose Company 1, at Fifty-sixth and Dover street, was authorized.

Property owners in East Oakland sent a protest to the council against the future existence of a tumble-down building at 314 Thirteenth avenue, which they ask to have declared a nuisance, and abolished. The structure, built in early days, is said to harm realty values in the neighborhood. Commissioner Morse will investigate.

The municipal wood yard reported that during October it had cared for 227 men and given 227 meals and 132 lodgings.

Resolutions were adopted for the improvement of Redding and Vermont streets.

MOTHERS PLAN SCHOLARSHIPS

AT ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—The people are expecting to locate a new liquor still in Alameda. Mrs. G. Melbourne of 1216 Pearl street reported to the station last night that some one had stolen a large roasting pot from her back porch. The police are mystified as to what uses anyone could put this to unless for cooking or distilling.

Burgars forced the lock on the door of Charles Jensen's room at 2319 Webster street last night. Jewelry valued at approximately $200 was stolen.

D. E. Jean of Berkeley parked his automobile in Alameda last night and left his overcoat on the rear seat. When he returned to the machine the overcoat was gone.

Harris-Anderson Nuptials Tomorrow

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—The wedding of Miss Duke Harris of Sacramento and Asgar P. Anderson of San Francisco will be celebrated tomorrow in the home of J. T. Thorpe, 1025 Union street.

Rev. Elmer McBurrey will perform the ceremony uniting the young couple. Miss Leona Weber will be bridesmaid and Raphael Polk will be best man. J. T. Thorpe, a lifelong friend, will give the bride away.

"Earthbound" at the Kinema Causing Frenzied Discussion of Amazing Theme

Basil King's astounding drama of the unseen world is the most unusual picture ever filmed. Words are inadequate to convey its powerful scope, its brilliant acting and its spellbinding theory.

"Earthbound" marks an epoch in the history of the photodrama. Aside from its sensational points which touch upon a phase of the unknown world, it treats a subject as old as the world, and one which has never been solved. Basil King delves into the future life, life after death, and bridges the gap between this world

$1,000,000 FOR LOCAL ARMORY MEETS FAVOR

Oakland Delegation Believes Control Board Will Approve Appropriation

Optimistic over his reception at Sacramento and firm in the belief that the State Board of Control will vote a preliminary appropriation for Oakland's proposed $1,000,000 armory and exposition building on Lake Merritt, Mayor John L. Davie and the committee of Oakland citizens returned late last night before the Board of Control, sitting as a budget committee of the Legislature.

The mayor made a special point that Oakland, the third largest city in California, has never asked nor received any appropriation from the State.

Adjutant-General Borree supplemented the talk by making an earnest plea for an armory in Oakland, as did Assistant Adjutant-General M. Knight, both claiming that Oakland is the exact center of the State and a strategic center of no small importance.

Plans and maps of Oakland's proposed civic center were presented by John Bakewell. Architect E. W. Cannon presented a specific plan for the armory-exposition building, and Edwin Stearns pleaded the necessity for an exposition building in the bay region.

The Board of Control was not prepared to make formal answer, but it is said that the board's attitude was not hostile by any means. A favorable ruling is expected.

The Oakland committee with the mayor included Harry C. Williams, Walter Reed, E. W. Cannon, John Bakewell, Marston Campbell, Major Harry Huber, Edwin Stearns, L. H. Spiro, Clifton E. Brooks and Harold D. Weber.

Letter from Lost Man Brings Thanksgiving Joy to Relatives

This is a story for Thanksgiving.

It is written because there are rejoiced and grateful hearts in four places today.

There is gladness at the home of George Vohl, Thirty-second street and San Pablo avenue. There is happiness at the offices of the Washington market at Ninth and Washington streets, where Mrs. John Allen, an employee, can look down and see turkeys flying over the rooftops of Francisco, today tomorrow. There is still greater joy at 491 Frederick street, San Francisco, where a gray-haired mother, Mrs. Minnie Vohl, formerly of Alameda, resides.

And then there is general down-right satisfaction over having been the bearer of glad tidings in the home of William W. Wabmuth, who is Alameda's chief of police.

A letter from Fred Vohl of Chicago to Wabmuth has wrought the change. It is the second letter to reach his family from him in nearly ten years. In that interval Fred, now 27 years old, has been married and died.

Ten years ago, just about Thanksgiving time, came a letter from Fred to Mrs. Minnie Vohl, his mother, and Mrs. John Allen, his sister, then residents of Seattle, saying that Fred, a widower, an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad in Ohio, was coming home for Christmas. He never came.

Letters sent to ask why were not answered. Years rolled by. The family moved to Alameda and took up residence at 143 Van Buren avenue. The war came. Believing that Fred was in the army, Mrs. Allen, the sister, wrote to the war department. But she had no definite information and the war department failed to help.

Judge J. J. Trabucco, who said yesterday that Norris would be subject to punishment for contempt unless the money were paid today, declared that if Mrs. Norris was satisfied with her husband's arrangement regarding the money he would not impose any penalty.

U. S. CONSUL RECOVERING, CALIFORNIA, Nov. 24.—Walter Boyle, American consul at Mexican, today is recovering from the effects of a gunshot wound in one of his arms, accidentally inflicted in Carlos, Mex., while he was preparing to start on a hunting trip. The word received here.

Promise to Pay Wife Saves Man From Jail

Joseph H. Norris, insurance broker and defendant in an action for divorce by Mrs. Betty H. Norris, saved himself from going to jail for non-payment of temporary alimony today by satisfying the court and Mrs. Norris that the $275 now due will be paid as soon as money now on the way here from New York arrives.

As the "Spirit of Prosperity" she performed the only solo dance in the "Pageant of Progress" recently given by the Recreation Department to commemorate the Pilgrim Tercentenary, and under her direction all of the interpretive dancing and pageant were produced. Miss Jorgensen also took a prominent part in the Christmas pageant presented by the Recreation Department a year ago.

Miss Jorgensen is a graduate of the Oakland Technical High school and for several years she was in charge of one of the large city playgrounds. Upon returning from the east next summer, Miss Jorgensen plans to open a studio of interpretive dancing and pageantry.

CHARGE DROPPED TO AVERT STIGMA ON HER CHILDREN

Witchell's Wife Refuses to Prosecute Mann Act Case. Which Is Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—A mother's refusal to bring a stigma upon the lives of her two small children resulted today in the government authorities agreeing to a dismissal of a charge of violating the Mann act against James Henry Witchell, well known engineer in China and Russia.

Mrs. Mabel Witchell, wife of the engineer, recently brought about the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of her husband on a charge that he had brought from Saigon, Indo-China, Miss Jean Helen Dunsan, a young French girl, as guardian for his two children, a daughter 5 years old and a son 2½.

Mrs. Dunsan and the two children arrived at Seattle last June and came to San Francisco, where they were scheduled to have met their mother.

Miss Dunsan and Witchell, according to the wife, continued on to Chicago.

While 1 was taking a bath," complained Con Cockran, 2924 Webster street, "some one entered my room and stole $100."

"One hundred dollars?" asked the desk sergeant at Central police headquarters.

"Yes," said Cockran. "It was in bills."

"Did you make any inquiry around the place where you live?"

Other reports were small.

Thief's Amateur, But He'll Eat Thanksgiving Burglars Ply Jimmies Victim's Landlady an Optimist

"Sure, I told the landlady about it."

"What did she say?"

"She said: 'Oh, that's all right. I don't worry about you.' You'll think around till probably turn up."

"Umph!" grunted the desk sergeant. "I'll bet she's an optimistic soul."

BURGLARS MUST EAT WHEN TURKEY DAY COMES ROUND

The approach of Thanksgiving was held responsible by the police for a series of burglaries throughout Oakland last night, in which money, jewels and other valuables were stolen to an aggregate of $1,000 or more, police records show.

A kitchen stove, a window gained entrance for burglars to the home of George Shaw, 1102 East Twenty-second street, "one of the thieves made way with silverware, clothing and articles of silver-ware." The loss is estimated at about $250.

Mr. Howard J. Thomas, 4929 Summit street, complained to the police of a burglary of his home in which highly valued silver plate and jewelry, clothing and articles of silver-ware.

Another "Jimmy" job on a side window gained entrance for burglars to the home of Frank Shaw, 1102 East Twenty-second street, "one of the thieves made way with silverware, clothing and articles of silver-ware." The loss is estimated at about $250.

Mr. Howard J. Thomas, 4929 Summit street, complained to the police of a burglary of his home in which highly valued silver plate and jewelry, clothing and articles of silver-ware.

Her retirement in 1916 came after 57 years of school work, during which time she became famous as a lecturer as well as an educator.

Mrs. Wilson was born in Lyman, New Hampshire, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. First Lyman. Her mother died when she was a baby, and she was educated and made her home with her husband in Bradford, Vermont.

She is survived by a brother, Rev. A. Little of Chicago, and a niece, Miss Lydia A. Little of Berkeley.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the home of her husband's son in Bradford, Vermont.

Known to students and alumni as "Pop," Setchell, the news has taken college circles by surprise.

Professor Setchell has been always regarded as a pronounced bachelor, combining a coterie of unmarried professors living at the Faculty Club.

"Even the best of us fall now and then" laughed the prospective groom this morning. "We can never tell what we will do, so bachelors' vows are foolish ones to make."

The marriage of Professor Setchell and Mrs. Caldwell will come at last the search was given up.

And now has come the letter to Wabmuth. He had, Fred, been trying to locate his mother, his sisters and his brothers for a long time. He had advertised and written many letters. At last he had given up the search.

He had written to Alameda, could the chief of the Alameda police help him. He could and did.

"Yes, he called me up here at the office. I could hardly believe it. I was so excited. It was wonderful news," said Mrs. Allen, at the Washington market, of a telephone call she had from Chief Wabmuth which sent her running to his office to see the letter. "There is no doubt about it. It is Fred."

Besides Mrs. Vohl, the mother, and Mrs. Allen and George Vohl, there are to rejoice Mrs. Pearl Halz, a sister, and Jacob Vohl, a brother, both of whom now reside with them in San Francisco, where Mrs. Allen makes her home alone.

They do not know but they hope that Fred is coming home this Christmas, and they have answered his letter with a telegram.

FOUR MISSING PERSONS SOUGHT BY DETECTIVES

Young Girl, Two Boys and Man Searched for by Eastbay Police

One young girl is missing and fear for her safety expressed, two boys are being sought by the police of the bay district as runaways, and the mysterious disappearance of a man, believed to have been the victim of foul play, was the record of the Oakland police today, and a special detail of inspectors was assigned to the coroner's department to run down the baffling cases before it.

The missing girl, member of a Berkeley family, is Verona Collier, 12 years of age, who lives with her parents at 1325 Parker avenue. The child has been missing now for several days. Her parents, hoping that it was just a childish prank, deferred notifying the police until they were convinced that she had actually left home or had been carried away.

GO INTO MOVIES.

According to information given to the police to aid in their search, the girl told her teacher that she was going to leave home to "go into the movies" in Los Angeles. She declared that she had been informed by a "picture director" that he could place her and her mother with a prominent studio.

She is described as weighing about 112 pounds, with blue eyes, brown hair, fair complexion. She wore a dark dress and a beaver hat.

Among other missing persons are two boys, Earl Nichols, 10, of 1520 St. Charles street, and Edward Knight, 12, of 1410 Bay street.

The boys left home a week ago.

It is thought they are headed for the Juana de Leon Jockey Club.

FOUL PLAY REARED.

Foul play is feared in the baffling disappearance of Charles S. Syuck, 47, of 978 Tenth street, who has been missing since Oct. 11. No explanation or intimation of his intention to leave home was given. He went to his place of business on the date of his disappearance and was never seen again. His wife is pregnant and the support has been left to a small son who is earning all he can to provide for his mother and smaller children.

Syuck's description is given as height five feet nine inches, weight about 250 pounds, black hair and eyes, smooth shaven. He wore a dark suit when he left.

BUSINESS MEN TO URGE GOVERNMENT TO PAY RAILWAYS

Chamber of Commerce Will Request Treasury to Make Good Time Deficit

The President and the Secretary of the Treasury will be asked by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to find some way immediately by which the railroads of the country may be paid the government's guarantee under war-time control.

Action to this effect was taken last night by the directors at the request of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The national organization says that the comptroller of the treasury has made a ruling that the Secretary of the Treasury is not authorized to pay the railroads any more money on the guarantee until the international arbitration commission has ascertained and certified the entire amount coming to each road.

The operating deficit under government control was $634,000,000. The letter of the national chamber points out, and of this $234,000,000 has been paid.

General Observance of Thanksgiving Planned By Churches of Various Creeds in Eastbay

Thanksgiving day will be observed tomorrow by appropriate services in the various churches throughout the Eastbay district. The Protestant churches, for the most part, meet together in union services at central locations in Oakland and Berkeley.

All of the First churches of the downtown district will unite at the First Congregational church in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. E. R. Dille, pastor emeritus of the First M. E. church, will preach the sermon. Dr. Dille is expected to trace the development of the various churches of Oakland, as he has been pastoring in this district for forty years.

"The Jubilee Cantata," by Webber and "While the Earth Remaineth," by Bourne, will be rendered by an augmented choir drawn from the different churches.

Other churches which will unite with the First churches in the union services are the Plymouth Congregational, Welsh Presbyterian, Union Street Presbyterian, Centennial M. E., and Piedmont Interdenominational.

LUTHERAN UNION SERVICE. The seven Lutheran churches of the Eastbay district will meet together at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the First Lutheran church, Grove and Sixteenth streets. Rev. C. A.
